Report of Health Awareness Talk on 27-04-2019 at Muthalam.

Monsoon season is a very important season as far as health is concerned. There are a lot of communicable diseases which can spread during this season. So it is important to have awareness about those diseases. KMCT College of Allied Sciences had invited Community Medicine department of KMCT Medical College to give talk on 'Monsoon season diseases' for general public on 27th April 2019. This class was taken by Dr.Rupesh Raman, Assistant Professor, Community Medicine department of KMCT Medical College.

He was supported by Mr. Sujesh.PK, Medical Social Worker, KMCT Medical College and Mr.Durgesh Kumar, Tutor cum Statistician, KMCT Medical College. The event also marked an end to the "World Laboratory Week". The event was inaugurated and an awareness talk for about 20 minutes was done by Dr.Rupesh Raman. It was followed by a brief interaction session with the general public. This helped the general public a lot to clear their doubts and questions pertaining to their personal life. 10 students attended

World Health Day

April 7th, is observed as the World Health Day, across the world every year in remembrance of the day of formation of the World Health Organization (WHO). Even this year, the Department of Community Medicine, KMCT Medical College had conducted programmes including free medical camp & public health awareness talk at RKAMLP Scholl, Noonjikkara, Vazhakkad.

In fact the programme was conducted on 6th of April on the eve day between 10 AM to 3 PM in consideration of public convenience. The programme at the school was organized by 'Kanivu', a charity organisation in connection with their first anniversary in a clubbing arrangement. The organisers delivered a brief note on the programme. After inauguration of the programme, Dr. Meera. S Nair (Assistant Professor, Department of Community Medicine, KMCT Medical College) had conducted a health awareness class on the topic "Summer related health problems & its remedial measures", thereby addressing a gathering of more than 50 people including women & elderly people.

The speech lasted for half an hour & covered different aspects like heat stroke, dehydration problems, diet control, water purity issues & medical problems like Cholera, Typhoid, Hepatitis, Chickenpox, Ophthalmological, Dermatological & Urinary problems. In addition the importance of state of good health &well being& the utilization of public health services was stressed & the importance of universal health coverage was also imparted. The issues were interacted with the audience & all their doubts were clarified. A team of house surgeons participated in the medical camp arranged by our college at the venue on the same day.

The programmes of World Health Day 2019 in KMCT Medical College was organized and coordinated by the staffs of Community Medicine Department comprising of Dr. Annie John (Prof. & HOD), Dr. Hassan Koya. K, Dr. Bindu Mohandas, Dr. Anirudh.V.Mutalik, Dr.AliZameel. B, Dr.Rupesh Raman, Dr. Anupama. A, with supports from Mr. Durgesh Kumar & Ms. AmithaChandran.E, along with the physical participation of Dr. AryaSurendran& Mr. Sujesh P. K at the venue.

Report of Health Awareness Talk on 27-04-2019 at Muthalam.

Monsoon season is a very important season as far as health is concerned. There are a lot of communicable diseases which can spread during this season. So it is important to have awareness about those diseases. KMCT College of Allied Sciences had invited Community Medicine department of KMCT Medical College to give talk on 'Monsoon season diseases' for general public on 27th April 2019. This class was taken by Dr.Rupesh Raman, Assistant Professor, Community Medicine department of KMCT Medical College.

He was supported by Mr. Sujesh.PK, Medical Social Worker, KMCT Medical College and Mr.Durgesh Kumar, Tutor cum Statistician, KMCT Medical College. The event also marked an end to the "World Laboratory Week". The event was inaugurated and an awareness talk for about 20 minutes was done by Dr.Rupesh Raman. It was followed by a brief interaction session with the general public. This helped the general public a lot to clear their doubts and questions pertaining to their personal life. 10 students attended

April 7th, is observed as the World Health Day, across the world every year in remembrance of the day of formation of the World Health Organization (WHO). Even this year, the Department of Community Medicine, KMCT Medical College had conducted programmes including free medical camp & public health awareness talk at RKAMLP Scholl, Noonjikkara, Vazhakkad.

In fact the programme was conducted on 6th of April on the eve day between 10 AM to 3 PM in consideration of public convenience. The programme at the school was organized by 'Kanivu', a charity organisation in connection with their first anniversary in a clubbing arrangement. The organisers delivered a brief note on the programme. After inauguration of the programme, Dr. Meera. S Nair (Assistant Professor, Department of Community Medicine, KMCT Medical College) had conducted a health awareness class on the topic "Summer related health problems & its remedial measures", thereby addressing a gathering of more than 50 people including women & elderly people.

The speech lasted for half an hour & covered different aspects like heat stroke, dehydration problems, diet control, water purity issues & medical problems like Cholera, Typhoid, Hepatitis, Chickenpox, Ophthalmological, Dermatological & Urinary problems. In addition the importance of state of good health &well being& the utilization of public health services was stressed & the importance of universal health coverage was also imparted. The issues were interacted with the audience & all their doubts were clarified. A team of house surgeons participated in the medical camp arranged by our college at the venue on the same day.

The programmes of World Health Day 2019 in KMCT Medical College was organized and coordinated by the staffs of Community Medicine Department comprising of Dr. Annie John (Prof. & HOD), Dr. Hassan Koya. DAY3-28/09/2022

In connection with the World Rabies Day 2022, Department of Community Medicine has conducted a class on 'Animal Bite Management' for interns on 28th of September 2022. The training was done by DrAnupama A , Assisstant professor , Department of Community Medicne and DrNavya G, Senior Resident , Department Of Community Medicine on behalf of DrJayakrishnan T, Professor and HOD, Department of Community Medicine. The training was started at 2pm and there were 16 interns from all departments participated. DrAnupama discussed about how rabies have been transmitted, contacts, common animal bites, incubation period, categories and treatment guidelines according to WHO guidelines. She also discussed the vaccine and its route of administration and also presented a video demonstration of vaccination and the method of injecting immunoglobulin in wound sites. She also addressed the common myths about rabies. Later interns were divided in to four groups and different case scenarios were given. They themselves discussed and categorized the cases and suggested the treatment plans. DrJayakrishnan and DrAnupama addressed the queries of interns about the rabies and DrJayakrishnan discussed about the possible reasons for the current rise in rabies cases. The interns were asked to share their personal experience about cases coming with animal bites and how they managed. The program was winded up at 4pm.
